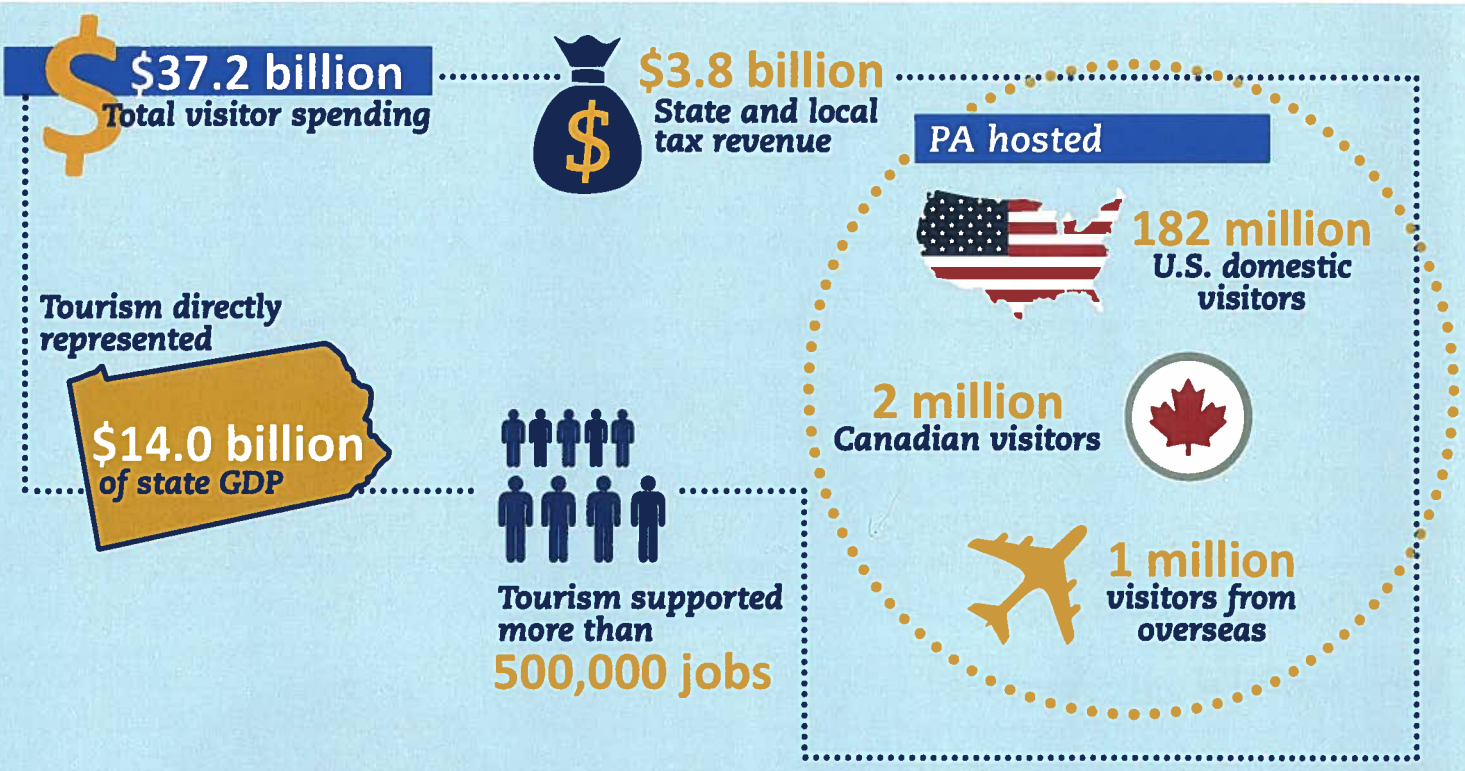
How will the Pennsylvania Tourism Partnership (PTP) be funded?

The PTP is funded with operational seed money from DCED. These funds are primarily used by the Team Pennsylvania Foundation (Team PA) to pay the Project Director and to cover operating expenses the first year. Additional funds for brand development and strategic marketing will come from a combination of private sector contributions and pledges, which will be matched with funds from DCED. The PTP will also work with PATT and the state toward establishing a long term, sustainable source of funding for marketing PA Tourism.

Why Now?

Tourism is a key industry and job supporter, and is critical to the economic well-being of Pennsylvania. It is a broad-based and far-reaching industry, which includes hotels, meeting facilities, attractions, cultural institutions, recreation and much more. The tourism industry impacts a wide variety of industries from restaurants to transportation, retail, agriculture and manufacturing, to name a few.

The economic impact of tourism in Pennsylvania is significant, according to 2011-2012 data:



Pennsylvania is competing with every U.S. state as well as numerous international markets for meetings, conventions, sporting events and visitors. Stronger collaboration between state government and the tourism industry will better position the commonwealth to capitalize on increased economic opportunities relating to tourism in Pennsylvania, which translates to increased revenue and job creation.
